New recliner option

LENNY RELAX

One of the most important novelties of the new collection has to do with our emblematic Lenny model. We presented it 18 ago, and nowadays it has become one of the most important icons in the Fama catalogue, and perhaps one of the most copied models in and out of Spain.

Where is the novelty?

This is the secret: we have managed to turn our Lenny chair into one of the most comfortable motorised recliners on the market.

Behind this design there are many more aspects than it may seem at first. Have you ever wondered why, in all relax armchairs, the wing is separated from the arm? So far it had been impossible to create a relax armchair in which these two elements were united in the same piece. But now, thanks to a complex tilting system, we have been able to put an end to this axiom that had always limited relax armchairs, leading most of them to always have the same construction.

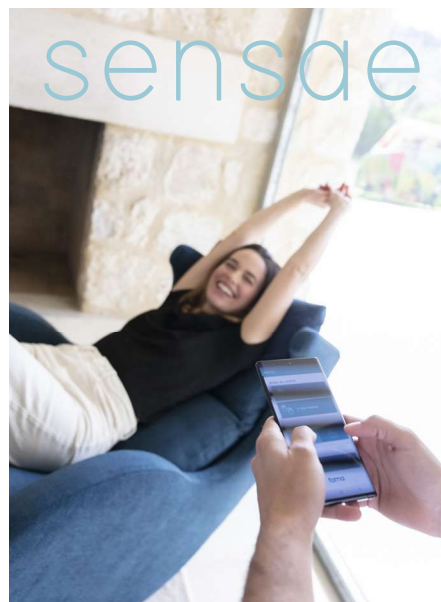

We have had to increase the size of the armchair slightly, approximately 10%, exactly the same size as the Big Fama XL armchair. The comfort is difficult to match, it comes with a swivel base and has maximum stability when open, since it rests slightly on the floor.

We expect to be able to present it soon in the larger size, XXL. However, it will not be possible to produce it in the L version, the smallest one, due to the limitation of the relax mechanism minimum dimensions.

“We present one of the most important novelties of this new collection, our Lenny armchair converted into a recliner”

The length of the footrest is extremely long, providing great comfort for very tall people.

It is an ideal model to present the new Sensae motorised recliner management system.
